Book discussion group to meet at Macomb County Library

CLINTON TONWSHIP, Mich. – “Blink,” the best-selling book about the two-second glance that creates first impressions, is the September selection of the Macomb County Library’s book discussion group.

Written by Malcolm Gladwell, also the author of “The Tipping Point,” the book discusses the “adaptive unconscious” which provides people with instant and sophisticated information to warn of danger, read a stranger or react to a new idea. It also includes information about jumping to conclusions, and how marketers can manipulate first impressions.

The discussion group, which focuses on biographies and non-fiction, will meet at 7 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 26.

“Book groups are a great way to get people together to share ideas and discuss a common reading selection,” said Darlene LaBelle, director of the Macomb County Library. “Patrons can expect a supportive environment and should feel free to express their opinions, positive or negative.”

About Macomb County

Macomb County is an enriching community in Southeastern Michigan that has one of the state's fastest rates of growth. Its 834,000 residents make it Michigan's third-largest county, with direct access to Lake St. Clair and Anchor Bay, and a host of cultural and entertainment options. Its highly skilled workforce and investment in new and expanding businesses make it open to enterprise. Active civic leadership translates into balanced budgets and Michigan's second-lowest tax rate. An increasingly diverse population and high quality of life make Macomb County accessible to all.
